

Newbury Town

Newbury is a lively market town sitting astride the Kennet and Avon Canal. It has plenty to offer those new to the area whether your interest is in work, relaxation or leisure activities. The vibrant pedestrianised town centre provides a good selection of department stores and independent retailers.

New restaurants and bars make for a thriving town with a rural atmosphere given from the open air market that takes place on Thursday's and Saturday's.

The Newbury area enjoys a rich heritage of castles, theatres, waterways and countryside. Its famous racecourse is home to some of the most exciting events in the racing calendar. There are numerous leisure facilities and fitness centres to choose from with an excellent rugby club and an abundance of golf courses to suit all abilities.

Perfectly located at the crossroads of the M4 corridor and the A34, Newbury is less than an hour from London, Oxford, Bristol and the South Coast. This has attracted a number of world leading companies and recently the electronic and computer industries have contributed to the modern day Newbury especially with Vodafone establishing their Headquarters here.

There are a number of strong primary and secondary schools in the town and surrounding areas, which also offers a good selection of independent schools.

Discover Kingsland Place

Kingsland Place is located approximately ¾ mile south of Newbury town centre and the railway station, which has main line connections to Reading, London and the West Country. Junction 13 of the M4 is only 4 miles to the north giving excellent access to London and Bristol. St. Bartholomew and Park House Senior schools are just a short walking distance.
